The Institutional efforts/initiatives in providing an inclusive environment

Academic Year 2023-24

World Book Day Observance:

Department of English organized World Book Day, an annual celebration of books and reading that promotes literacy, cultural diversity, and the joy of reading worldwide. By highlighting the importance of books in modern students' lives, the event aimed to underscore the transformative power of literature in fostering intellectual growth, empathy, and global citizenship among young learners.

Book Exhibition:

A book exhibition was arranged on campus to encourage students to delve into new books related to William Shakespeare. The exhibition showcased a diverse collection of texts, including Shakespeare's plays, sonnets, critical analyses, and adaptations. By providing Access to a wide range of resources, the exhibition Book Exhibition:

Poster Exhibition:

In addition to the book exhibition, a poster exhibition was organized to highlight the importance of Shakespeare's First Folio publication. The posters featured in formative content, historical on text, and visual representations depicting the significance of the First Folio in preserving and disseminating Shakespeare's plays. Through engaging visuals and educational materials, the exhibition offered insights into the cultural impact and enduring legacy of this landmark publication.
